Survey seeks public views on Chena River shooting range's future

(Fairbanks, AK) – The Division of Parks and Outdoor Recreation is using an online survey to solicit comments concerning the future management of a shooting range located in the Chena River State Recreation Area.

The shooting range, located at mile 36.5 Chena Hot Springs Rd., was established in the early 1970s, and is managed by Alaska State Parks. With a tight budget and reduced staffing levels, the division can no longer keep the site safe or well maintained. The division is using the survey to seek public input to help guide future management decisions for the facility.

To take the survey, enter this address into a search engine:
